To whom it may concern:

Therese Gregorio joined Dofasco's Public Affairs and Communications team in April 2003 for a 5-week internship.

Therese proved herself a valuable resource within the department. During her internship, Therese worked several projects, including Dofasco's inaugural Employee Report. This publication, to be distributed among Dofasco's 7,500 employees, was a new initiative and a demanding project that required an array of skills, from writing to working with management at Dofasco and at a number of subsidiary companies throughout North America. Also during her internship, Therese updated the department's crisis communications plan and related resources, and assisted with a media training session at a subsidiary company.

In all her duties, Therese demonstrated sound judgement and solid communications skills, including writing for PR, research management and project management. She also demonstrated excellent interpersonal skills, enthusiasm and a passion for learning new skills.

I would not hesitate to recommend Therese for employment in the field of communications and public relations and I am confident she has a promising career ahead of her. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like to further discuss the contributions Therese made during her internship at Dofasco.

Sincerely,

Ian Hamilton
